

CAKE MIX

Learning to Love All Your Ingredients

A fun and delicious
twist on teaching
about diversity!

Hardcover,
paperback &
eBook available!

Synopsis:

Cake Mix: Learning to Love All Your Ingredients is a picture book for children ages 5-8. The story features a young mixed-race girl named Remy, whose first encounter with the intrusive question, "What are you?" sends her on a journey towards self-acceptance. Remy learns about ethnicity and what it means to be mixed by doing her favorite activity with her mother—baking a cake!

To request a review copy or special sales quote please email:
pawprintspublishing@baker-taylor.com

FORMAT

Hardcover
Paperback
eBook

ISBN#

978-1-223186-429
978-1-223186-436
978-1-223186-443

RETAIL

$18.99
$9.99
$9.99

5yr-8yr
AGE GROUP

#100for100
AMEX GRANT RECIPIENT

WE NEED MIXED STORIES

"This book is so special. My children are MIXED and it is crucial for them to have books like this where they can see themselves represented. Moreover, books like these need to be in every. single. classroom. This story is wonderful to teach ALL children that we come from different backgrounds, but still have so many similarities that bring us together. Not everyone has to be just like us. They're not worse, or better, just different."

- @BOOKSGROWMINDS

"Hernandez's sweet analogy is simple but kid friendly and may prompt meaningful conversations for young readers and their parents—along with a baking project or two... An informative, thoughtful story that encourages appreciation of diverse backgrounds."

- KIRKUS REVIEWS

MEET THE AUTHOR

Mikki Hernandez is an actress, voiceover artist, and writer. She attended UCLA earning a degree in Communications and works in film, television, and commercials. Cake Mix is her debut book. Mikki lives in Los Angeles. IG: @momikki

CONNECT

@MIXEDKIDSCO

(310) 406-4324

info@mixedkidsco.com

www.mixedkidsco.com/cakemix